P2 GRIPS

Science Meets Feel

Science Meets Feel - What's different about P2 putter grips?

- P2 grips feature a shaft position which runs off-centre and along the underside of the grip
- The shaft position runs 1.5 – 3.0 degrees off-centre in each grip which increases the ulnar deviation of both wrists during the stroke
- The increased wrist angle (ulnar deviation) limits the amount of mobility or movement to the wrists and hands, preventing them breaking down during the stroke
- The grip is perfectly positioned in the life line of the palms of both hands, the ideal placement to ensure control, consistency and accuracy
- The actual lie angle of the putter is not affected, the change in wrist position will make the putter feel slightly more upright once in the correct playing position with the putter head flat on the green

P2 AWARE Tour Midsize Hybrid Paddle Putter Grip

- A midsize hybrid paddle grip with flat sides which sit squarely in the palms
- Flat sides ensure both palms match up perfectly with the putter face
- Features an off-center shaft position of 3 degrees
- Targeted at the golfer who prefers more of a midsize than oversize feel
- Performance tip: Coaches have noted improvements using this grip for golfers needing to reduce putter face rotation
- Weight: 55 grams +/- 2gm
- Core size: 0.580"
- Off-centre shaft: 3 degrees
- Available in a range of colours

P2 CLASSIC Tour Oversize Hybrid Paddle Putter Grip

- An oversized hybrid paddle grip with flat sides that sit square in the palms
- Flat sides ensure both palms match up perfectly with the putter face
- Same shape profile as the Aware Tour but deeper from front to back taking up more of the palms of both hands
- Features an off-center shaft position of 3 degrees
- Hand and wrist movement will feel more restricted due to the combination of off-centre shaft position and extra material positioned above the shaft
- Weight: 67 grams +/- 2gm
- Core size: 0.580"
- Off-centre shaft: 3 degrees
- Available in a range of colours

P2 REACT Tour Midsize Putter Grip

- A midsize grip with rounded sides and minimal taper from top to bottom
- The shape provides a wide flat section for both thumbs to sit comfortably allowing for varied gripping styles
- The V-shaped underside, designed to subtly externally rotate the hands underneath the grip whilst in ulnar deviation, encouraging the forearms and elbows to tuck in closer to the body during the stroke
- Features an off-centre shaft position of 3 degrees
- Weight: 67 grams +/- 2gm
- Core size: 0.580"
- Off-centre shaft: 3 degrees
- Available in a range of colours

P2 REFLEX Tour Oversize Putter Grip

- The Reflex Tour is an oversized grip and the largest in the P2 Grips range
- Features rounded sides and minimal taper from top to bottom
- Deeper front to back - the flat section on top is not as wide as the React Tour
- Similar in size to the Classic Tour, the hand and wrist movement will feel more restricted due to the combination of the off-centre shaft position and extra material positioned above the shaft
- Weight: 77grams +/- 2gm
- Core size: 0.580"
- Off-centre shaft: 3 degrees
- Available in a range of colours

P2 TOUCH Tour Oversize Hybrid Paddle Putter Grip

- A traditional pistol style grip which merges a pistol shaped top section with a minimal taper lower down the grip
- The more pronounced arc of the pistol shape helps lock in the position of the top hand even further when combined with the patented P2 off-centre shaft design
- Features an off-centre shaft position which is reduced to 1.5 degrees
- Targeted at the golfer who has a repeatable stroke, prefers a smaller pistol shape but can still benefit from creating slightly more ulnar deviation
- Weight: 85grams +/- 2gm
- Core size: 0.580"
- Off-centre shaft: 1.5 degrees
- Available in a range of colours

Every other sport (think baseball, tennis, and hockey) and every tool in our toolboxes has a large handle. So why are golf grips small? It doesn't make any sense. After all, it takes much more force to hold onto a small handle, and one thing all golf teachers can universally agree on is that squeezing a golf club handle is bad! JumboMax® Grips offer golfers tour- quality grips with ergonomically correct sizing. That's a scientific way of saying they "supersized" them. And it makes a BIG difference!

JUMBOMAX SWING GRIPS - ULTRALITE SERIES

Created to be 20-25% lighter than skinny grips. For golfers looking to max out their speed, UltraLite grips can help by reducing the overall weight of the club

- Used by U.S. Open champion Bryson DeChambeau
- UltraLite Tri-texture construction, 20-25% lighter than standard grips
- Features Tri-Texture™ surface details in specific areas of the grip
 - Hex pattern for maximum texture in key gripping areas
 - Cross pattern adds tackiness and disperses moisture
 - Herringbone 'V' pattern assists in consistent hand placement
- Promotes light, even grip pressure to generate faster clubhead speed
- Twist-resistant StabilityCore™ which offers maximum performance in the rough
- Super-oversized profile improves clubface awareness and control
- Developed for demanding golfers who seek enhanced clubhead awareness

JUMBOMAX PUTTER GRIPS - JUMBOFLAT 13

JumboMax pros asked if they could incorporate the many benefits of the award-winning JumboFlat™ 17 into a grip specifically for counterbalanced putters. The result is the JumboFlat™ 13, which has been optimized to work perfectly with the counterbalance style

- JumboFlat™ 13 adds instant counterbalance to your putter
- Ideal for both standard-length putters and extended-length putters
- Superside, flat surface for maximum stability & help to eliminate wrist-break
- Rounded bottom section is formed to fit your fingers
- TargetTac™ texture delivers improved tackiness and feedback
- Tapered design delivers a natural feel that is often lacking in other wide grips
- Because of its added width, the JumboFlat™ 13 promotes a slight forward press to help golfers improve their roll and consistency

WHAT BRYSON SAYS

"ArmLock putting is about maintaining a flat lead wrist, and I worked with JumboMax to create a grip that makes it easy to do. The result is the JumboFlat 17, which has the widest flat surface of any ArmLock grip. It also tapers so it can rest against the full length of my forearm during the entire stroke.

I just love the shape on the back of this grip. It's rounded in a way that perfectly fits my fingers, and that makes it so comfortable."

Golf Pride®

For over six decades, Golf Pride has been the global leader in golf grip innovation and technology, from the invention of the slip-on grip to ground breaking advancements in cord with our Brushed Cotton Technology (BCT) to the introduction of the hybrid category of grips.

- Polyurethane construction provides the ideal feel, texture and weight, ensuring grips are soft, yet responsive
- Uniform geometric shape ensures both hands have the same feel, promoting a more synchronized stroke
- Deeper side profile provides maximum feedback, allowing golfers to better square the putter face
- Unique horseshoe-shaped backside creates a natural and comfortable resting place for finger folds
- Unique traction elements and visual clues assist with finger placement
- The grips maintain a consistent weight profile across all sizes, preserving the putter's sweet spot
- Available in a range of colours and sizes
